Academics

Reading

Every student was able to pick out a book from the classroom library. The students then had some independent reading time with their book, everyone did awesome! We ended the week by reading to ourselves for about 20 minutes! We also started the read aloud book Third Grade Angels. The students are so engaged in this book and disappointed every time we have to stop reading.

Math

We started our first unit in the Bridges curriculum. We learned about glyphs and even made one! We then categorized our glyphs and created a class bar graph with our categories. We ended our week with a pre-assessment for unit 1. The pre-assessment information will help guide my lessons and small groups. It was emphasized repeatedly with the students that this pre-assessment may be difficult because they haven't learned any of these concepts yet. If they really didn't know an answer, they put a question mark for that question.

Writing

We took our first writing pre-assessment. Again, this assessment is used to help guide my lessons and small group work. We also worked on an About Me worksheet and picture.

Word Work

On Friday we took our pre-assessment for Word Work. The pre-assessment lets me see which lesson (spelling pattern) I need to start with.

Chromebooks

We attempted to login to our Chromebooks. We had a few struggles and made some adjustments. The students are very excited to use them!

Assembly

We had a super fun assembly on Friday! Connor Doran got 12th place out of 90,000 contestants on America's Got Talent. He showed us his talent of indoor kite flying. The students loved watching it! Click here to see pictures from the assembly!

Congratulations!

Kolin Kubacki got his panther pride ticket pulled for our classroom! Way to go Kolin!

Behavior

Overall, we had a good week getting to know each other and the expectations in the classroom. We spent time discussing procedures. The number one question asked this week was, "can I go to the bathroom?" Fortunately, by Friday the students weren't asking as much as they were on Tuesday. YEAH!!
